IRC Adds HAAG Certification

Consultants Mark Barlow and Dave Wahl go through training, add certification.

Insurance Restoration Consultants, Inc. sent two consultants to Cincinnati, Ohio in June in order to complete a two day training program to become HAAG Roofing Inspector certified. Consultants Mark Barlow and Dave Wahl, Jr. attended and completed the HAAG Residential Roof Training. Upon completion, HAAG attendees are acknowledged as Certified Roof Inspectors. HAAG is the unofficial standard for roofing certification and is well respected among the industry. There are two categories of certification under HAAG. The first is the Residential Roofing Inspector Certification. The second is the Commercial Roofing Inspector Certification. Both Mark and Dave have completed the Residential Roofing Inspector Certification and are expected to return later in the year in order to receive their certification as a Commercial Roofing Inspector.

Dave Wahl, Jr

The HAAG certification is another one for Mark Barlow, who now adds the HAAG Residential Roofing Inspector Certification to a list that includes Certified Mold Remediator, Certified Restorer and Certified Graduate Remodeler. This is the first certification for Dave Wahl, JR who viewed the training as a positive experience saying, "The training was great because it broadened my horizons when it comes to roofing." "It will be interesting to go back and see what they come up with for the commercial certification".

IRC emphasizes the importance that the consultants keep up with industry standards in certification. We will continually seek up to date certification in order to provide the best quality service to our clients.
